OVER MILLION RETURNED MEN DEMOBILIZED

General March Says 1,103,310 Men and 71,235 Officers Mustered Out; Work in Camps in State at End

Holland Will Facilitate the Movement of U. S. Troops by Way of Rhine; Many Ships Used to Carry Food

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Total demobilization now stands at 1,103,310 men and 71,235 officers, General March said today.

A total of 1,581,900 men have been ordered demobilized and 305,000 have already embarked for home. Of the latter 227,000 have actually landed in this country.

March revealed that the demobilization in camps in the States is about at an end.

Discharge of men from overseas will depend on shipping conditions, March indicated. Since the armistice the United States has converted considerable army shipping to European food relief work. The army has now practically completed shipment of 270,000 tons of food to Rotterdam, Gibraltar, Constantinople, Constanza and the Black Sea.

With unloading speeded up and reaching 65,000 for the first ten days of February, the State Department was advised by the Dutch foreign minister today that Holland will facilitate United States troops by way of the Rhine. Such troops will be transported at Rotterdam. Special regulations require the transport to fly only the commercial flag and that soldiers be not permitted to carry arms during the trip on the river.

Some of the army shipping is being readjusted and turned back to useful employment other than military. Some cargo vessels have been re-made into troopships and a total of 56 have been, or are being completed, so as to add a 120,000 monthly troop carrying capacity to the present rate.

Twenty per cent of the troops brought back from overseas have been carried in American ships. Battle deaths in the A. E. F. during the present war were 37 per cent of the total. In the Civil War, the Northern forces lost in battle deaths 33 per cent.

$60,000 YEAR MORE ASKED FOR SALARIES

This Is in Addition to $30,000 Recently Voted by Supervisors as Increase Pay for Employees in Co. Offices

Assessor Clay Only Exception; Tells Solons He Can Get Along With Fewer Deputies—Surveyor Out of Pocket

Sixty thousand dollars approximately the amount of salary increases asked of the framers of the new county government act by the county statutory employees. The employees under the Board of Supervisors were recently voted in a measure totaling approximately $20,000, making the amount of increases asked and received $80,000 a year.

The only county official not demanding an increase is Assessor J. H. Clay, who told the legislative delegation at the hearing yesterday afternoon that he could get along with ten fewer deputies and about $10,000 less than the year's salary roll. He asked for increases of the salaries of the remaining deputies of $10 a month each for fourteen men, $5 per month increase for three men, $5 a month for one man and $20 month for one man. He wants no change for his assistant assessor and chief deputy, who receive $250 and $200, respectively. He wants a new position created, that of chief clerk, at $200. He asks for ten extra deputies at $125 a month for five months, which the former administration had. It was suggested that four men who assess the country precincts be provided with expense for traveling. One county deputy has been allowed $150 a day for the use of his automobile by the supervisors and another $2 a day for his horse and buggy. The comparison in values as between a machine and a horse created one of the very few laughs that enlivened the all-day hearing. Last year the payroll amounted to $87,826, according to figures submitted by the assessor. He proposes to reduce it to approximately $71,280.

TAX COLLECTOR TELLS OF INCREASED WORK

Tax Collector James T. Barber gave some figures indicative of the increased work of his department. In 1908 the taxes amounted to $2,738,750, as against $4,885,848 in 1918. In 1919 the number of tax payers amounted to 124,650. The increased work has been handled, he said, with the same staff without increased pay, with the exception that during the past five years two deputies have been added.

Barber asks for five new permanent deputies and for general increases in the present salaries. His chief deputy receives $200 a month and asks for no increase, but an increase is asked for the chief clerk from $150 to $175. The same increase is asked for the cashier in the office. Ten regular deputies who received $125 a month are asked to be raised to $150, plus the five new deputies requested, to receive the same pay. He asks that the present allowance for fifteen extra deputies during the rush season be maintained, for they receive $125 a month.

KAYS ALL IN COUNTY EMPLOY NEED RAISE

County Clerk George E. Gross declared that approximately every man in the county employ is entitled to increased pay by reason of the increased duties he is performing. He said that the value of the dollar, Gross said that he made the demand in the interest of efficiency, declaring that men can maintain no interest in employment if they are not yielding them a comfortable living. He said that a comfortable living for a rainy day saving. He said that no charge of inefficiency had ever been made against his administration of the office. He said that he saved the county many thousands of dollars in costs of elections over previous costs, and that, in fact, figured on a per capita basis, the cost of elections in Alameda county is the lowest in the state. He claimed the right to make demands for necessary compensation for his staff. Gross compared his office with the office of clerk of the city and county of San Francisco, where, he said, they have three deputies to his one, with a total registration of only 52,000 voters than here.

HIGHER PAY ASKED FOR DEPUTIES AND CLERKS

An increase was asked for the chief deputy county clerk, G. E. Wade, from $200 to $250. The county clerk, W. E. Adams, from $150 to $175; Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, J. C. Holland, from $135 to $175; and eight deputies from $125 to $150, and eight deputies from $125 to $150, and eight deputies from $125 to $150. There is one copyist in the office, whereas in San Francisco there are twenty-one. He said that he had not asked for an increase from $100 a month for the extra deputies allowed during the rush periods of election years, requested that he be given his share of the extra help in a lump sum, and that he be given the same matter of. He said that he has graph with the supervisors the sample ballots, and an address last year over 1300, address the city has been done by there were stenographers working "retrograde" during the period of two registration closing and primaries.

County Surveyor Perry A. Haviland explained that he has only one deputy.

25,000 ACRES UNDER FLOOD; PEOPLE FLEE

Damage to Sacramento Valley Crops Is Estimated at One Million Dollars; the Water Backs Up Into Small Towns

By-Pass Blamed for Part of Flood by County Official; Stretch of Southern Pacific Track Is Washed Away

MARYSVILLE, Cal., Feb. 15.—People began moving out of their homes today when rising waters from the Feather river threatened to cover the entire town. Water was creeping over the yards of many homes, rising steadily. It is estimated that 25,000 acres are covered with water which is backing up the Feather river from the Sacramento river.

Farmers are moving stock in large droves from the district, and the high ground towards Yuba City. There is practically no high ground in Tudor, a town of about 500 inhabitants. The water has risen about eighteen inches since yesterday. It rises three to four feet higher. The entire stretch of track on the Southern Pacific Knights Landing branch was washed out between Marysville and Tudor, where the water was flowing over the railroad for a distance of three miles. It was reported.

Oliver Conners, a crossroads, where a blacksmith shop and schoolhouse are located, is reported inundated. The flood waters were reported to be two miles from Boque and one-half mile from Marysville.

No information was available as to the actual number of persons made homeless by the flood. Reclamation officials said the flood from the Sacramento river, which had drained from the vicinity of Colusa into the Sutter basin, thence into the Sutter basin. Some of the water was from the Sutter by-pass, having flowed into the by-pass through the Tisdale weir.

Several members of the legislature have arrived from Sacramento at the request of the Sutter County Protective Association to inspect the flood and report protective measures back to the legislature.

Farmers declare the flood loss already has passed the million dollar mark.

PLANTED CROPS ARE DESTROYED

YUBA CITY, Feb. 15.—Thousands of acres of Sutter county lands, all planted with grain or other food crops, are under water and the crops will be destroyed. As a result of the recent by-pass, declared County Surveyor Edward Van Geldern, here today, the Sutter basin, known as District 1500, and owned by the Army, and interests, who were instrumental in creating the by-pass constructed, is not flooded.

The ground under water is mostly high land that has never been flooded heretofore, said Van Geldern, and the flood waters, which are a quarter of a mile wide and from one to six feet deep, will do much damage. The Sacramento river does not soon recede.

PROBE OFFICE OF WILLIAMS, HOUSE URGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A Congressional investigation of the conduct by John Skelton Williams of his office of United States Comptroller of the Currency was provided in a resolution introduced in the House this afternoon by Representative Louis T. McFadden, Republican, of Pennsylvania, millionaire banker and president of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association.

Under the resolution the committee "would inquire whether said officers have any personal banking connections or partnerships or otherwise interested in banking or brokerage concerns in the city of Richmond, Va., or Baltimore, Md., or both, and what connections any or all of these have had in the past year with the purchases or sales of stocks in the International Mercantile Marine and Russian bonds or other securities, if any, and whether any other relationship exists or has existed between such banks and the Richmond Federal Reserve bank or its branch at Baltimore, Md."

The committee also is instructed to report whether Williams has been guilty of acts which were "designed or calculated to overthrow, subvert or corrupt the government of the United States or any department or office thereof, and whether he has been guilty of any act or acts in conspiracy with others to do acts, in contemplation of the constitution, are high crimes or misdemeanors requiring the interposition of the constitutional powers of this House."

The resolution was referred to the subcommittee on rules.

Readjustment of World's Financial And Economic Relations Next Big Problem Before Peace Conference

Present and Prospective Resources of Germany to Be Ascertained in Order to Fix Indemnity at Figure That Can Be Paid; Foe Industry Is Point Debated

EQUALITY OF TRADE AMONG NATIONS PLANNED

PARIS, Feb. 15.—With the subject of league of nations now out of the way for some time to come, the biggest problem before the peace conference at present is believed to be readjustment of the world's financial and economic relations. Three different organizations have been created to deal with these subjects. Some of their conclusions are ready for consideration. The supreme economical council has been charged temporarily during the armistice period to handle only such pressing questions as the disposition to be made of shipping, the abatement of the blockade which has been holding back not only the enemy's industry, but that of neutrals, the distribution of raw materials and finally, those financial questions that require instant attention.

This council, which includes some of the ablest financial and business minds of America and Europe, has firmly but quietly been supplanting the military officials who had been dealing with the same subjects. It was felt the handling of these questions by the military was only incidental to the war and the time had come to place them in hands dealing with the same subjects. It was this opinion, held by the supreme war council, which caused the economic council to be created, as it was desired they be dealt with in the safe and sound lines of civilian experience.

EQUALITY OF TRADE IS PLAN PROPOSED

Of more permanent value is expected to be the work of two other organizations created by the peace conference. These are the economic drafting commission and the financial drafting commission. These include distinguished financiers from all the entente countries. The economic drafting commission already has its drafts before the peace conference awaiting action by that body. Its high importance may be judged from the fact that it has undertaken to make a practical application of the third of President Wilson's fourteen points, namely, that declaring for the removal as far as possible of every economic barrier and the establishment of an equality of trade conditions among all of the nations consenting to peace and associating themselves for its maintenance.

The problem involves the right of nations to discriminate between friends and foes in their trade relations and the propriety of concluding the many special trade treaties with different tariffs, which in the past so often have jeopardized the peaceful relations of states. The financial drafting commission is dealing with the other half of the greatest moment to the business world. It is this commission which

IMPRESSIVE SCENE MARKS DEPARTURE

Group of American Red Cross Women Who Present Big Bouquet to Mrs. Wilson Are Warmly Saluted by Chief

French Military Escort Stands at Attention as President Passes Along Dock; Speech Will Be Made at Boston

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. BREST, France, Feb. 15.—Amidst impressive scenes, President Wilson sailed for the United States today on the liner George Washington. Checked by a great multitude, the President and Mrs. Wilson went aboard the vessel during the morning. At 11:15 o'clock the ship weighed anchor and steamed toward the open sea, bringing to an end the first phase of the historic visit of the first American President to set foot on French soil.

The departure of the American executive struck deeper into the public interest than otherwise would have happened because his great visit in the league of nations negotiations in Paris was still fresh. FRENCH OFFICIALS ACCOMPANIES PARTY. General Leclerc of the French army accompanied the presidential party from Paris.

A guard of honor, composed of soldiers and sailors, was lined up on the dock and stood rigidly at attention while the President walked slowly by. A group of "movie men" ground ceaselessly at their machines, registering the historic scene. The streets leading to the pier and the towering hills overlooking the harbor were filled with people. Some cheered. Others, touched by the solemnity of the occasion, stood silent and uncovered. Handkerchiefs fluttered from the hands of women.

Mrs. Josephine Wilson, in charge of the Red Cross base depot at Brest, presented Mrs. Wilson with a beautiful bouquet of violets and was graciously thanked. Mrs. Wilson was accompanied by Miss Beatrice Allen of New York and Miss Florence Harrison of Chicago. All wore their Red Cross uniforms.

WILSON SALUTES AMERICAN WOMEN

President Wilson saluted this little group of women as they passed. The train bearing the presidential party pulled into the station beneath a vast crane, which had been used for unloading ammunition and war supplies from the ships. The docks piled high with American equipment, ready for shipment home. When the train came to a halt a French sailor hurried forward bearing a message from the French general staff. The president made a purpose for the presidential party's use while alighting from the coach. President Wilson was first to alight, followed by Mrs. Wilson. They were greeted by a group of French officials. The president's farewells were said before the party boarded the tender.

General Helmick, commander of the American base, and Brigadier General Starkey, commander of the port, represented the American units present. There was a gathering of American officers of various ranks.

Among those who wished God-speed to the President were Charles M. Schwab, head of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and Dr. S. A. Brown of Bellevue hospital, New York. They will sail on the Olympian.

A French sailor accompanied the party, carrying a huge bouquet of roses with ribbon streamers attached. The party went out to the George Washington on a motor tender, piled with baggage. There were trunks, bags, cases and even piles of golf clubs. A French naval officer, wearing a gold-shielded sword, was at the stern of the tender. The president and Mrs. Wilson were on board the George Washington. The president's farewells were said before the party boarded the tender.

Soon the liner got under way, and as she passed one of the French forts a salute of 21 guns thundered out. There were no hitches and everything moved with the precision of clockwork.

WILSON PLEASED WITH RECESSION

BY UNITED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE. BREST, Feb. 15.—President Wilson gave out the following statement today just before embarking for the United States: "I am happy to think that I am to return to assist with all my heart in completing the just settlements which the conference is seeking, and I shall carry with me during my absence very happy memories of the two months I have spent here. I have been privileged to see near at hand what my sympathy has already conceived of the sufferings and problems of France and every day has deepened my interest in the solution of the grave questions upon whose proper solution the future prosperity of France and of her associates and of the world depends. 'As I do not leave my warm and affectionate farewell greetings.'"

DR. WHEELER VAINLY TRIES TO STOP RUSH

BERKELEY, Feb. 15.—A perfectly fine last night of the campus, is ruined today, while sophomore and freshmen students at the University of California are keeping college city cleaners busy as a result of a clash between the two classes yesterday afternoon in front of California Hall.

The freshmen were the victors in the battle. In numbers, which entirely overwhelmed the second-year men, they descended upon the sophomores as the latter stood defiantly on the lawn claimed as their own special property.

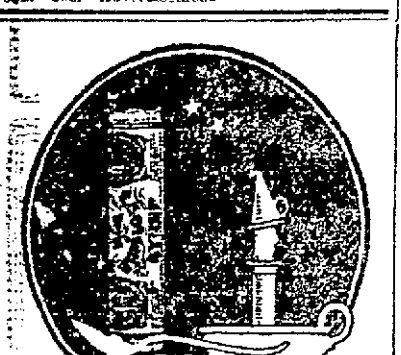

At a signal from the freshmen leader, the clash started and sophomores and freshmen mixed in the pouring rain.

President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, whose offices overlook the place of the fight, called to the belligerents, but the hosts of the attacking freshmen drowned his efforts.

Moses A. Cartwright, secretary to the president, dashed to the edge of the fight, but he was brushed aside by the combatants.

Not before the rolling green lawn was transformed into a mire and the freshmen succeeded in routing the sophomores from its vicinity did the battle end. Students in both classes were covered with mud and were forced to return to their homes and change their clothes before resuming their studies.

It is now in residential district only and could not be rebuilt for business purposes if destroyed by fire. It was pointed out by members of the city planning commission that there were doubtless many similar instances, as small business structures are scattered throughout the city. In the event that any of these business places are more than 40 per cent damaged by fire, they may be rebuilt on consent of adjoining property owners regarding the adjoining 200 feet of property.

Inquiry was made regarding building lots on Clemente avenue, the residential district where future residence building is not permitted. Property owners claimed that their building lots would be practically confiscated as they were too small to sell profitably for industrial purposes.

The council took up these matters under advisement and will make report next Tuesday.

FRAT INITIATES CURBED BY POLICE

BERKELEY, Feb. 15.—Initiation ceremonies last night at the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity house came near having a sad ending for four of the freshmen members.

As part of their entrance requirements the four students were sent forth to obtain articles of decoration for the fraternity house at 264 Durant avenue. At Dwight way and Shattuck avenue the eyes of the freshmen lit with delight upon three red lanterns which were placed on a warning over a street excavation.

With the lanterns appropriated the college youths proceeded on their way and were in the act of adding potted plants from neighboring doorsteps to their collection when their operations were interrupted by the police.

The youths were taken to police station, where they were disrobed with warnings that further actions of the same character would result in their arrest.

Alberger Explains Street Car Service

ALAMEDA, Feb. 15.—Acknowledging that the Alameda street car service is not what it should be, W. R. Alberger, general manager and vice-president of the San Francisco and Oakland Terminal Railways, and George H. Harris, general superintendent of the same company, appeared before the Alameda Improvement club last night at the club rooms on Webster street.

Alberger said that the street car company was burdened with a $4,000,000 deficit, had paid no dividends for seven years to stockholders and could not obtain under present conditions the additional money to rehabilitate itself. He said that if indeterminate franchises were obtained that the company would be in better condition to improve service, do required street work in several east side cities and take up proposed extensions of different lines.

Boy Said to Have Swallowed Poison

ALAMEDA, Feb. 15.—Herman Werheimer, 21 years of age, swallowed a quantity of carbolic acid at his home, 625 Taylor avenue, last night, according to report made to the police by the young man's father, Louis Werheimer. The father said that the boy was angry, announced he would commit suicide and swallowed the acid.

The boy was out of danger when the police arrived and no action was taken, the father saying he wanted the boy left at home.

Annoyer Escapes Through Window

ALAMEDA, Feb. 15.—An unidentified man, who has been annoying girls at the Alameda library, made a spectacular get-away through an open window of the library yesterday afternoon, as an assistant librarian was telephoning to the police station across the street for an officer to arrest the man. The man is 25 or 30 years of age, walks with a limp, has dark red hair, and wears a dark hat and dark suit of clothes.

County Officers Ask For More Money Urge Higher Pay For Deputies, Clerks Comparisons Are Made With S. F.

deputy, listed as a county deputy, in his office. The others are members of his personal staff, subject to call by the county. The county is billed for the actual cost of their service when they are on county work. He told the legislators that he has been paying his deputy $25 a month out of his own private business to supplement the county allowance in order to keep him on the job. He asks that he be raised from $225 to $250.

Four deputies, who really belong to the surveyor's office by reason of their being engineers, but who are in the office of the assessor, where they prepare block books for the assessment rolls, ask for an increase. Two of them want to be raised from $170 to $200 and two from $125 to $155. Heretofore there have been six of these deputies, but the number is reduced to four.

Haviland asks for a stenographer, to receive $125 a month. He has been supplying the stenographer on his own private account. He also asked that chainmen be raised to a minimum of $5 a day and transit men to $10.

He said that he heretofore every time a chairman worked he has been obliged to pay $1 in addition to what the county allows to secure his services.

WHAT RECORDER WANTS.

County Recorder G. W. Bacon wants thirteen deputies increased from $125 to $150, his chief deputy from $200 to $225, and one deputy from $90 to $115. He asks that the fee paid to copyists be increased from 4 1/2 cents a folio to 5 1/2, explaining that 100 folios is the maximum a copyist can do in a day, and that with black days, the nineteen copyists have been unable to earn more than approximately $75 a month. The work, he explained, is very exacting and tiresome. The office, he says, far more than maintaining itself from the fees.

County Treasurer Fred W. Pore asked for an increase for his chief deputy, T. M. Robinson, from $200 to $250; Deputy J. C. Hedemark, from $175 to $200, and one deputy from $150 to $175. He explained that the office handles approximately $12,000,000 a year, coming and going, and that men employed in similar work with similar responsibilities in banks receive the pay he is asking.

Both the adult and juvenile departments came asking for relief. The adult probation office, of which Leonard Compton is chief, has 450 probationers, each of whom, it was said, means a saving to the state. The harder the probation office works the fewer men go to prison, with corresponding saving in their keep, it was explained. They have at the present time only three deputies and asked for one more. They asked for an increase for Compton from $175 to $225 a month, one deputy from $160 to $175, and one deputy from $150 to $175, and one deputy for stenographic and office work to receive $1200. They explained that the work of the probation office is increasing in importance and general recognition, and that they are handling successfully the bulk of the minor criminals that come to the attention of the authorities.

ASKS FOR ADVANCE.

Probation Officer Charles A. Wood of the Juvenile Court and Detention Home presented a complete report of his department and asked for generous advances. He was supported by a member of the probation committee, Robert A. Leet, who recommended the increases asked on the basis of the good the department is doing.

Wood pointed out that juvenile probation administration works identically as does general health administration; that if the work is well done, the amount of juvenile delinquency diminishes from year to year. He said this result is being achieved by his department for this county.

Increases were asked as follows: The probation officer, from $225 to $275; chief assistant and head of boys' department, from $150 to $225; head of girls' department, from $135 to $150; assistant in boys' department, from $100 to $125; assistant in girls' department, from $100 to $125; collection department, from $100 to $125; as much maintenance as possible from parents of delinquents, from $100 to $125; head of family relations department, from $85 to $100; one stenographer, from $85 to $110; and one clerk, from $75 to $85.

County Auditor E. F. Garrison asked for three increases, as follows: Bookkeeper and chief accountant, from $135 to $175; remittance clerk, from $135 to $150; warrant clerk, from $135 to $150.

Waitz Relieved by Tanlac After Suffering Twenty Years.

"Not in years," said Philip A. Waitz, recently, "have I enjoyed better health or felt so well generally as I do since taking Tanlac."

Mr. Waitz lives in what is known as Old Tacoma, at Thirty-third and Lawrence streets, Tacoma, Wash. He has been a resident of this city for nearly twenty-five years. "Tanlac has certainly been remarkable in its action," he continued, "for it has not only relieved me of my terrible suffering, but I have actually gained fifteen pounds in weight and have just finished my third bottle. I had been bothered with my stomach and kidneys for twenty years and was never able to get any relief. Sometimes I was in so much misery that I couldn't get around at all and would have to lay off from my work for a week at a time, or more. When the weather began to get warm last summer I got such a bad cold that I could hardly stand it, and had to give up my work entirely and was unable to turn my head a thing all summer. I moved out of town and into the woods, thinking if I lived out in the open it might help me, but I continued to suffer the same. Mr. Tanlac was all out of what and I suffered again from indigestion. The gas which formed in my stomach would get into my chest and almost cut off my breath. I had to stop drinking coffee, quit eating many things I liked, and was so often at night that I couldn't get any sleep."

"Finally a friend of mine who works at the shipyard advised me to get Tanlac and as nothing else had ever done me any good, I began taking this medicine. By the time I had finished my second bottle I hadn't an ache or a pain about me, and I began to eat and sleep better. I had been so tired that I couldn't get any sleep. I had been so tired that I couldn't get any sleep. I had been so tired that I couldn't get any sleep."

"I am now in the best of health and I can sleep the whole night through. I feel like I have taken a new lease on life, for I feel younger, stronger and better than I have in years."

Economical— and no mistake!

Many a home goes without the best food—due to a mistaken idea that because the product has a luxury taste it must be expensive.

Take Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate, for example. Its use represents a genuine economy because of the superior food value it gives you.

Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate

From the Shipbuilders and Metal Workers of San Francisco and the Bay Region

To our 100,000 employees:

We want to talk to you.

If there were fewer of you we would prefer to speak face-to-face—man-fashion.

We have a lot to say on matters that interest you as much as they do us.

Your wives, your families, the tradespeople you deal with, the friends you meet, the section that your prosperity makes prosperous—all are equally interested. So perhaps it is just as well that there are so many that we have to use the public press to reach you. In this form you can take these words home and discuss them with your family, your friends and your neighbors.

In these talks we want to show you just what is in our minds. We want you to know that with your help we plan to keep industry booming on the Pacific Coast. But we must be able to depend on increased production before we can do this. Increased production can come only through co-operation: on your part an honest day's work; on our part, improved working conditions.

There is no reason why the present prosperity shouldn't go on. There is no reason why it shouldn't get even better. San Francisco can build ships for the world. We can get the business if you—as the majority of you have been doing—will make us know that we can depend on you to do your part.

Your national officers and Secretary of Labor Wilson have warned you repeatedly not to be misled by the voice of the troublemaker. Honest discontent is good. If you were all satisfied to be "helpers" the wheels of industry would "wobble." The discontent that makes trouble, as you have been told, comes from those who are not able to appreciate prosperity. Your real leaders are now advising you to keep to your agreements and continue to enjoy the benefits of a good understanding between employer and employee. These men are your true friends. The man who tries to stir up trouble at a time like this is not your friend. Talk it over with your family. Ask your butcher and grocer what they think about it.

WORK HERE WAS NEVER SO STEADY. You are working under weather conditions that have no equal in the world. Your family never enjoyed so many of the good things of life. The prospect for a continuance of these things was never better. BUT IT WAS NEVER IN GREATER DANGER THAN RIGHT AT THIS MINUTE.

Whether or not these good times continue depends on you as much as on us.

For your part the majority of you must make us know that your agreements can be depended on and that the disturber can do no more than make a noise. We can then go ahead and get the business that will keep the shipyards busy and continue for you and your families the good times that have been yours for the last two years.

In further talks to be published in this paper every few days we will take up matters in which we—employer and employee—are very much interested.

In discussing Collective Bargaining we will show you how the Iron Trades Council of San Francisco has benefited labor and helped to make good times for everybody.

We expect to discuss: Cost of Living, The Trouble-Maker, The Oakland Situation, Peacetime Labor Adjustment Board, The Industrial Outlook, and other subjects.

Compulsory arbitration and the prohibition of secret treaties, however, are two strong guarantees of peace. They are both American ideas. There are some crimes, however, which no people will be willing to see submitted to arbitration. Outrages upon the citizens or the honor of a nation are often not susceptible of argumentative discussion. The invasion of Belgium and the murder of American women and children on the Seattle's mayor has got into the limelight by the simple action of standing up to his duties. The widespread attention which has been attracted by his fidelity to fundamental duty suggests that it is something new in mayors. Perhaps it is. Perhaps the great mass of law-abiding citizens have seen situations similar to that at Seattle handled so differently and inconclusively that when their attention is attracted by a municipal executive so certain of himself and his duty they accord applause at once. It would be reassuring to loyal Americans everywhere if they could feel that all the mayors of the land accepted Mayor Hanson's patriotic action as a good example to follow.

The statement of an Oakland egg commission man that brown eggs are becoming more popular is looked upon as the opening gun in a campaign to kill off an unwarranted assumption of superiority of the white egg. This public attitude is particularly interesting when we realize that the opposite view of the desirability of eggs is held on the Atlantic coast.—Hanford Sentinel.

BOILERMAKERS SPLIT LOOMS WITH 2 UNIONS

"It may be necessary to form a new boilermakers' local in Oakland, there is no strike in Oakland shipyards which has the recognition of the International Brotherhood of Boiler-makers and Iron Shipbuilders."

"The members of boiler-makers' local of San Francisco who are working in Oakland shipyards will continue to do so irrespective of any strike action which may be ordered by the Pacific Coast District Council of Boiler-makers and Iron Shipbuilders."

"The foregoing statements were made today by Al J. McGuire, business agent of San Francisco Boiler-makers' Union, and special representative of the International Brotherhood of Boiler-makers on strike matters now pending on the Pacific Coast."

"Another meeting of the union will be held Sunday afternoon in the Municipal Auditorium, when a secret ballot will be taken as to whether the men will return to the job next Monday. Should the men vote to return to work they will individually and collectively be given protection under the laws of our International Brotherhood."

"The members of San Francisco Boiler-makers' Union will continue to work in Eastbay shipyards irrespective of any strike action which may be ordered by the Pacific Coast District Council of Boiler-makers and Iron Shipbuilders, which convenes in Portland Monday."

"There is no strike in Oakland shipyards which has the recognition of the international, and all union boiler-makers are therefore at liberty to seek work there if they choose. This applies to members of the Oakland Union as well as to others. All union men who take the places of men who are on unauthorized strike in Oakland shipyards will be protected by the international."

"Another meeting of the union will be held Sunday afternoon in the Municipal Auditorium, when a secret ballot will be taken as to whether the men will return to the job next Monday. Should the men vote to return to work they will individually and collectively be given protection under the laws of our International Brotherhood."

ON STRIKE TODAY.

Although strike action on the part of the members of the Oakland Boiler-makers' Union was deferred until definite orders are issued by the Pacific Coast District Council of Boiler-makers and Iron Shipbuilders, a considerable number of the men failed to report for work this morning in Eastbay shipyards. The disaffection was not, however, sufficient to necessitate closing down the plants. All of the yards operated until noon today, when, as usual, the half-holiday was taken.

The disaffection applies solely to the local union, according to statements issued by the shipyard managements, all of the members of the San Francisco union of boiler-makers working here on the strike. Work will be resumed at the plants Monday morning, say the managements. The managements also state no strike notice has been served on them by the Oakland boiler-makers.

No vote to strike was taken at last night's meeting of the local boiler-makers' Union, according to Assistant Secretary Bowers. He states that strike matters today remain the same as when the strike vote of the four helper crafts was taken February 5.

Possible loss of charter and a disaffection in the ranks of the union which would tend to nullify to a considerable extent the force of any strike action may follow a vote taken last night by the local boiler-makers. They voted to be governed in pending strike matters by the recommendation of the Pacific Coast District Council of Boiler-makers and Iron Shipbuilders, which will convene in Portland

IN THE WAKE OF THE WOLF

By Captain Nerger, German Navy.

Being the story of a German sea-raider's fifteen-month career of piracy, pillage and destruction as detailed in its commanders diary and log. Brought to America and translated by Captain Robt. D. Trudgett, Alameda.

CHAPTER 10.

First Women Guests.

Now we steered a new course toward the Fiji Islands. On July 8 picked up the old ketch Beluga, with a load of kerosene oil and gasoline from San Francisco for Sydney. The gasoline was especially valuable for our Wolfchen. The crew were taken off and the vessel set on fire and shelled. The blazing of the oil and the explosion of some of the kerosene casks made a great sea of flame where the oil continued to burn for a mile or so, in the twilight the bluish flames taking on the cast of a will-o'-the-wisp.

Captain Cameron had his wife and 6-year-old girl on board. Mrs. Cameron was asked if she preferred to quit the ship by basket chair or the side ladder and answered proudly that she was a sailor's wife and could use the ladder. She was ill for a time. She was a Sydney girl when the captain married her and was making the voyage to visit her mother, whom she had not seen for ten years.

Their little girl soon became a favorite with both officers and crew. Her hair was cut short and she was 100 miles off the Norfolk Islands. Not far away a week later another American four-master fell into the jaws of the Wolf, the Ekure, from Portland, Ore., for Sydney, with a load of lumber. This was July 14 at dusk. Oil was poured over the vessel and it was burned, according to our custom, after the crew and provisions had been taken off. We passed between Fiji and Caledonia islands without seeing a single ship, and passing the neighborhood of the Solomon Islands, stopped near German New Guinea.

One wonderful hot day we sighted a sailing ship along the horizon. When we would see her mast, then lose them again. Supposing it to be a coal ship pursuit was begun at seat of the German (New Guinea) government, but was not similarly established under the Australian (British) administration. We pondered where Captain Donaldson could have been when he sent the message, but on the 27th we intercepted another wireless as follows: "S. p. m. Matanga to Brisbane. We shall be at Capello Monday noon."

Here at last we had a solution for our problem. We calculated how soon we should pass the steamer and determined that she would appear to us about the 5th of August. I decided at once not to proceed any farther, but to lie to for the Matanga here, that the confidence we imposed in the Wolf might be rewarded and the Matanga not complain of our reception.

Every day, the weather remaining fair, the seaplane rose into the air to watch for the Matanga's first appearance. In spite of the great altitude it reached the Wolf-chen saw nothing in all the wide expanse of ocean. When it descended for the last time, however, and resumed its position over our waiting was rewarded. Captain Donaldson flashed a wireless to Ra-baul that he would arrive there the next morning at 7 o'clock and begged them to prepare for him. But adding that he could not "bat" but would come to the Burrows. In the fleet list we found an American destroyer by this name and supposed it to be that vessel.

The story of transferring this coal at Rabaul, like the story of the Matanga, was even more close to us, and by the following morning, ought to be in our hands. With the event about to occur we got under way at low speed and went to meet it.

Late that night we observed the vessel's light coming up astern. Our orders for seizing it was advanced, and at daylight the Wolf set upon its prey, the seaplane meanwhile soaring above its decks. The prize officer whom I sent there (Ebas) knew just what to do. He went directly to Captain Donaldson.

"Where are your 500 tons of coal for the Burrows?" he demanded. "Where are your 250 tons of cannon metal?"

As the captain told us afterward the questions tremendously astounded him. His eyes opened wide and it took him considerable time to get the full import of the situation. He could not suppose it was he who had sent us the information, the valuable information about his sailing course and even about the cargo he carried on board.

The Matanga also carried a list of passengers, among whom were seven Australian soldiers, two Red Cross attendants, three army captains, two physicians with the rank of colonel and Major Flood and his wife. One of the colonels, Slagma, was the new Australian governor of Rabaul, with Major Flood as his chief of staff and the three captains as land commissioners. There also was a stewardess who went by the name of Maria. Who it was that furnished me the data I do not know, but the fact reached me that, to tell the truth, Maria did not belong to the nice part of her sex. The moment she set foot aboard the Wolf she was nicknamed Mary Stuart, whom she resembled in many ways than one.

The Australian officers and others who were undoubtedly in the military service were sent immediately on board the Matanga to help work the ship. The captain came along with us to the Wolf. His first questions were:

"Where is my cabin? Where are my cases of champagne that I had on board? Why should I drink tea and water when I have plenty of champagne?"

There was also £2000 in silver on board the Matanga to pay government employees. We solved at last the mystery of the £2000. It was not the American destroyer, but a former German station yacht which had been renamed the Una and fitted out with guns.

The Matanga had a very valuable cargo for us. Among the items were three and a half tons of frozen meat, besides a quantity of fish, wine and spirits that lasted us until our arrival. In addition, we had a quantity of clothing, soap, and other necessities. I respectfully call to the people of this city to put aside all their prejudices and support the interest of the city of Oakland. The city is suffering from the spirit which prevailed during the common cause of war must rise now to settle the most vital problem which has confronted Oakland in years.

(Signed) JOHN L. DAVIE, Mayor of Oakland.

The proclamation issued by Mayor Davie is as follows:

To the People of Oakland: All sides in the present strike controversy are agreed that the Eastbay community is suffering from its continuance. The idleness of our army of shipbuilders is felt by the people of every walk of life. The question is a community problem in which the prejudiced taking of sides or expressing personal opinions does more harm than good.

This strike has created a more complex situation than ever before because in addition to the usual parties consisting of the employers and employees there is in this controversy the third party, the United States government.

As mayor of this city I have held informal conferences with all the parties involved in this strike and it is my firm conviction that a speedy settlement can be obtained by some concerted action. Every shipbuilder, every workman, every merchant and business man in our city is interested in an immediate adjudication of this question. The parties in this controversy must make the property and the future of Oakland at stake and the preeminent position which Oakland took in our government's shipbuilding program must not be followed in peace times by an era of panic-stricken idleness.

In order that cooperative action may be taken I am going to get in touch with every faction involved in this question with a view of an immediate settlement of differences. I respectfully call upon the people of this city to put aside all their prejudices and support the interest of the city of Oakland. The city is suffering from the spirit which prevailed during the common cause of war must rise now to settle the most vital problem which has confronted Oakland in years.

334TH FIELD ARTILLERY IS DUE ON 24TH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The transport Orizaba is due at New York about February 21, the War Department announced today, with two cases of company, Texas. Also on board is the headquarters of the 1654 Field Artillery Brigade, and the headquarters company, supply company and batteries A, B, C, D, E and F of the 334th Field Artillery.

The following organizations have been assigned to priority: Evacuation hospital one; eighth aero squadron; base hospital 29 and 47; air service photographic sections 17 and 21.

TRANSPORT ARRIVES.—The transport Larrabee, which sailed February 5 from Brest with 2331 troops, arrived today. The troops for the most part were negroes of the Ninety-second division.

Twenty-five vessels are being fitted out at New York to join the American cruiser and transport force en route to Europe.

This was revealed today in a list of vessels comprising the force under Vice-Admiral Clegg, with their scheduled sailing time.

No explanation has been offered for the fact that transport officials last month predicted a monthly flow of 200,000 troops from then on, while Chief of Staff March last week estimated only 100,000 would be returned in February. It is assumed that addition of the twenty-five extra vessels will permit reaching or passing of the 200,000 mark monthly.

299,781 LANDED.—Officers and men of the American overseas armies to the number of 299,781 have been landed at different figures made public today by officials at the port of embarkation offices. At the time of the signing of the armistice, almost 2,000,000 men were in France, England or en route overseas.

All told, 170 transports loaded with returning fighters have docked at New York, Philadelphia and Boston since the cessation of hostilities. Some of these ships have carried as few as 100 men. Others have brought as many as 9000, the Leviathan bringing back 9401 this week—a record for the entire homebound troop movement.

Though weather during the last two weeks has hindered troop movements, according to the officials. The period from January 20 until March 1 is considered the worst of the year for trans-Atlantic travel and transports have not been loaded to their fullest capacity, while schedules have necessarily been slowed down.

3 CHUBBY TOTS WANT VACATION

"Three lovely, rosy, chubby children need a temporary mother, while they are getting used to being without their own. There is blue-eyed, laughing Mary, learning to walk, and her brother, John, who will go with anyone who will offer him a drink. The trio of motherless youngsters needs somebody to love and care for them for about two months."

"My bark is so sore," 13-year-old Annie told Mrs. Fred Harrison, as she watched little Mary and little Johnnie at play. This child has cared for the two brothers ever since their mother died of influenza and tried to make a home for the father struggling against debt and high cost of living. If Mrs. Harrison can find temporary mothers for the three children, Annie and the 7-year-old sister can go back to school. The father of the little flock is working in the shipyards, but is confronted by grief, bills and strikes.

The Matanga also carried a list of passengers, among whom were seven Australian soldiers, two Red Cross attendants, three army captains, two physicians with the rank of colonel and Major Flood and his wife. As mayor of this city I have held informal conferences with all the parties involved in this strike and it is my firm conviction that a speedy settlement can be obtained by some concerted action. Every shipbuilder, every workman, every merchant and business man in our city is interested in an immediate adjudication of this question. The parties in this controversy must make the property and the future of Oakland at stake and the preeminent position which Oakland took in our government's shipbuilding program must not be followed in peace times by an era of panic-stricken idleness.

In order that cooperative action may be taken I am going to get in touch with every faction involved in this question with a view of an immediate settlement of differences. I respectfully call upon the people of this city to put aside all their prejudices and support the interest of the city of Oakland. The city is suffering from the spirit which prevailed during the common cause of war must rise now to settle the most vital problem which has confronted Oakland in years.

(Signed) JOHN L. DAVIE, Mayor of Oakland.

The proclamation issued by Mayor Davie is as follows:

To the People of Oakland: All sides in the present strike controversy are agreed that the Eastbay community is suffering from its continuance. The idleness of our army of shipbuilders is felt by the people of every walk of life. The question is a community problem in which the prejudiced taking of sides or expressing personal opinions does more harm than good.

This strike has created a more complex situation than ever before because in addition to the usual parties consisting of the employers and employees there is in this controversy the third party, the United States government.

As mayor of this city I have held informal conferences with all the parties involved in this strike and it is my firm conviction that a speedy settlement can be obtained by some concerted action. Every shipbuilder, every workman, every merchant and business man in our city is interested in an immediate adjudication of this question. The parties in this controversy must make the property and the future of Oakland at stake and the preeminent position which Oakland took in our government's shipbuilding program must not be followed in peace times by an era of panic-stricken idleness.

Income Tax Questions Answered March 15 Latest Day For Returns

Printed forms for the income tax returns are expected to be ready early in the week after next by Justus S. Wardell, collector of internal revenue. The collection of these taxes, the revenue bill having passed both houses and awaiting only the expected signature of the President upon his return from France, is to be expedited in every way possible.

Returns and first payments must be made, under the law, by March 15, and as long a time as can be arranged will be afforded between distribution of the blanks and their return. So many questions regarding the applications of the tax law have been received by Wardell that he has issued the following set of typical queries and their answers:

Would a return be accepted from an agent of a taxpayer, who was himself unable to appear?

If, by some reason of illness, absence or non-residence, a taxpayer is unable personally to render his (or her) return, it may be made by an agent, and will be accepted if the agent makes affidavit that he has sufficient knowledge to make a complete and accurate return for his principal, and assumes responsibility for making the return and incurring the penalties provided for a delinquent, erroneous, false or a fraudulent return.

What would happen should a taxpayer make a false or fraudulent return with intent to evade a proper payment of the income tax?

Under the provisions of section 3176, Revised Statutes, he would become liable to an additional tax of 100 per cent, and under the provisions of section 18 of the act as amended, to a fine of not exceeding $2000, or to one year's imprisonment, or both, in the discretion of the court, and to costs of prosecution.

May a husband and wife, living together, and each receiving an independent income, render separate returns?

If the husband and wife each receive an independent income equal to or in excess of $1000, separate returns may be rendered. If, however, the income of either is less than $1000, but the combined income equals or exceeds $2000, a joint return should be rendered.

If a husband and wife render a joint return, is the income of each to be included in the return?

Yes. The entire amount of allowance for expenses in addition to his regular salary. Is this amount to be included as income in his return?

CHINESE GIRL SLAVERY RING INVESTIGATED

A Chinese slavery clique, with ramifications on both sides of the Pacific, and in which some of the most prominent Chinese of the State are supposed to be interested, is being investigated by the police and the Federal authorities as the result of the arrival of a number of Chinese girls at Angel Island. Some of these girls were 14 years old. The Federal authorities, it is said, have known of and have been watching the operations of the ring for some months. The police will not give out the names of the men implicated.

Several methods are used, say the police, in bringing the girls here. One system is for an older Chinese woman to arrive, bringing three or four young girls as her children. Agents in China bargain with parents for the girls. A native son of California, whose citizenship enables him to bring a wife to this country, goes in some cases to China and marries one of them. The girls sell for from $1000 up in this state, it is said.

The police say they have knowledge of several slave girls in the city and through the police are tracing details of the operation of the ring.

The jailhouse is a two-story building, built in 1908, and contains approximately 1,000 square feet of space. It is currently used as a storage facility for the county's records department.

The commission estimates that the purchase price for the building will range from $100,000 to $150,000. Interested parties are invited to submit bids by June 1st next.

The commission also plans to sell off some of its surplus property, including furniture and equipment. These items will be sold at public auction, starting on June 1st.

For more information regarding the sale of the jailhouse or other surplus property, please contact the Civil Service Commission at 1234 Main Street, Los Angeles, California.

Wholesale Holdup
Plot Fails, Charge

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—The a claim against the East Bay Police Department today charged that it was the former police officer's plan to kidnap Kansas City and Omaha, to enlist the services of Policeman Harvey De Lin, in a wholesale holdup conspiracy in the downtown district.

The charge was made by a letter written at an early hour this morning.

According to De Lin, he was standing at Taylor and Market streets this morning when Officer, who was wearing a disguise, approached him, and after giving him a cigar engaged him in conversation and made the proposition, saying, "We can make $6,000 or $7,000 a week if you will come the first night and tap them on the head and we will ride on the spot."

As a further incentive, Butler is said to have offered, and De Line accepted, an unset diamond valued at $500, which De Line turned into the property clerk's office and booked as evidence.

Following are some pithy sentences from the address of Isaac F. Marcosson, war correspondent, author and lecturer, delivered in the ballroom of the Hotel Oakland last night:

"The Anglo-Saxon spirit won the war."

"The final appraisal of the great men of the war will show that General Pershing was the supreme figure of all the armies."

"Dangerous optimism is the disease from which America is suffering."

"The business men of America—behind the lines—made an inspiring contribution to the forces that won the war."

"For America now to forget the war would be a greater crime than had she not entered the war."

"The profound spirituality of our great leaders was the dynamo that drove our armies to victory."

Mr. Marcosson was introduced by Joseph A. Knowland, who presided at the gathering.

The famous journalist, described by Knowland as "a trained observer of men and things, who during four years in Europe had taken full advantage of the rich opportunities for gaining first-hand knowledge of the great events that have crowded the past few years," proved to be a more fascinating speaker than he is a writer. His intimate knowledge of the big, outstanding personalities of the war, gained from personal contact with them while attached to their headquarters as a newspaper correspondent, added much to his graphic description of the march of events in Europe.

GIVES SOME "CLOSE-UPS."
After briefly sketching his personal experiences in traveling through Europe in quest of news and material for his well-known magazine articles, having visited every country at war and all the neutral countries, Marcosson painted vivid word pictures, which he termed "close-ups," of the great leaders of the allied cause, Foch, Haig, Lloyd George, Clemenceau and Pershing.

In directing a verbal attack against Bolshevism Marcosson charged that Russia had taken full advantage of the war to spread its propaganda which was financed and spread in this country by Germany during the war. He said:

"The recent labor troubles in Seattle were indirectly caused by the same Bolshevism which wrecked Russia and which must be stamped from America at any price. No man can be a Bolshevik."

ROMANCE IS BLIGHTED BY BAD CHECKS

BERKELEY, Feb. 15.—Two months of happy courtship, during which she was showered with gifts of diamonds, player pianos and other expensive presents, have come to a sad ending today for 18-year-old Alma Stieglitz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Stieglitz, 1156 Washington avenue, Albany, following the arrest of her fiancé, Roy O. P. Ranta, 19-year-old former clerk for Adolph Spreckels, who is held in San Francisco on a charge of forging checks.

"My daughter is ill from the shock of it all," says Mrs. Stieglitz. "She is just an innocent victim, that's all."

For several months young Ranta had been paying ardent courtship to Miss Stieglitz, presenting her with a diamond engagement ring, for which he admits paying $140, and a player piano valued at $545. The funds for his gifts, Ranta is said to admit, he obtained by forging the name of Spreckels, for whom he formerly worked as office boy, to a series of checks aggregating in value more than $500. His arrest came yesterday when in the act of presenting a check for $210 to the Anglo-London-Paris National Bank.

"I only wanted to borrow some of Spreckels' money and I intended to tell him about it," says the young man in his confession to the San Francisco authorities. "I did it to make both ends meet. I never was crooked in my life before. I have a mother whom I love and I've got a girl. She's a good girl and we're engaged. I saw I couldn't help my mother and treat the girl as she deserved. I wanted to give her an engagement ring and I did. It's a diamond worth $150. And I got a piano worth $545. I'm still paying for that."

"I had seen Spreckels write his name so often that I knew every twist and curve," says the young man. "Besides I was acquainted with the bank clerks and they didn't know I had been out of Spreckels' employ for months. They thought I was still doing his errands."

a part of the definite scheme of operations of our army. It was one of those fateful emergencies that test resource and prove capacity. The American fleet, but it not only had to have opened the way to Paris, and had Paris fallen, heavens only knows what might have happened. Our participation in the epic Chateau-Thierry was due solely to the fact that thanks to General Pershing's foresight and preparedness, a mobile and elastic system of supply and transport was available and proved itself.

NOT BEATEN BADLY ENOUGH.
"The tragedy of the war," Marcosson continued, "is that the Germans have not been beaten badly enough. The tragedy of the war is that the German armies are not only conquerors through a land serene and untouched by the hideous horror that outraged and despoiled so much of France and Belgium. Those armies of occupation should have been armies of conquest, regardless of price. We should be using the big stick instead of the soft and humane word."

"Long contact with German propaganda in every neutral country in Europe makes me believe that there is a great deal of confusion about Germany's protestation that she is economically down and out. The truth was really known, Germany prepared for thoroughly for peace and reconstruction as she made ready for war. In virtually every neutral country she has piled up immense stores of raw material; in Spain and in Switzerland and Holland she has mobilized skilled workers, whose output, unless I am much mistaken, will surprise the world during the next six months. Germany's industry and Germany's militarism have always worked hand in hand for the same end, which was world conquest."

URGES FANGS IN TREATY.
"It all means that we must have a treaty of peace with fangs that will put the German in his place and keep him there. It must have economic restrictions as well as territorial exactions. It must not be a peace of phrases, but a peace of action and result. No altruistic fallacy is greater or more costly than the illusion of a freedom of the seas for the power that outraged every law that governed it. If Germany is to have the unrestricted run of the international highways of traffic, then we will simply be playing into her hands and giving her a first aid to recovery that will again be a menace to the world almost before we realize it."

"In the war I was privileged to see the great things. They included the British grand fleet in battle order, a memorable picture of imperial power; King Albert, alone and alone, walking the lonely Belgian shore—a king without a country; I beheld the high tide of French valor ride the storm of glory at Verdun. Watched the deathless sacrifice of Haig's incomparable army up and down the valley of the Somme, and on a dozen fields I saw Pershing's men—the bravest of the brave—register an imperishable heroism."

"Out of all this contact with the stark and naked actuality of war is born a solemn conviction that bears on this large hour of revision and readjustment. It is this: The war was a giant plowshare that uprooted the universe. Now, in that vast furrow is the time of the great seedling. As we plant today so will all prosperity reap. The world lies molten for a recasting. We are no longer an aloof isolated honor into the crucible, we have emerged reborn from the fires of faith and sacrifice and with all the obligations that attach to that remaking."

ONE BINDING BOND.
"The kinship of today are the kinships that will endure. For us there is but one binding bond, and that bond is with those blood comrades of the heroic days, with that people torn of

AAHMES PATROL HEARS LECTURE

The regular monthly business meeting of Aahmes Patrol, one of the working bodies of Aahmes Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine, was held last evening at Shrine headquarters in the Pacific building.

It is the custom of this organization to conduct its activities along military and educational lines, having among its officers at the present time Dr. M. E. Lando as surgeon. Dr. Lando will give the patrol the benefit of his years of experience in the service of the United States. The doctor has decided to talk to the Shrine members pertaining to general health and hygiene.

The meeting on this occasion was well attended and those present heard a brief story of the origin of vaccination. The narrative covered in detail the early methods employed in administering vaccine down to the present more scientific means of inoculation.

Dr. Lando will speak again at the next regular meeting of the patrol.

our common sire and which speaks our common tongue—Britain.
"When you have seen the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes break out from the fighting tops of the grand fleet, when you have heard London cheer the march of armed American troops through her streets, when you have seen the doughboy and the Tommy fighting side by side on the fields of France, you realize that at last the Anglo-Saxons have come together for a union that is the most precious product of the war of wars. In that heritage lies the hope of the world. It not only means the armed stewardship of the seas, which is the highest freedom, but the peace, the security and the prosperity of all the years to come."

Tireless Effort of Women in the Bureau of Salvage and Shop Commended

It is conceded by the executive board of Oakland Chapter, Red Cross, and by Dr. Wilder Dwight, manager of the shop, that the valuable services given daily by the group of women who go to make up the personnel of the local bureau of salvage and shop is the keystone of the success of present Red Cross work. Each day of the week sees a supervisor with her group of helpers so busy that it is an effort to get them all together long enough to secure a photograph of them.

Two Arrested After Street Car "Fiesta"

Ernest Roessler and Ronald Hartley are under arrest, charged with disturbing the peace, following a window-breaking fiesta on a north-bound Shattuck-avenue car. Patrolmen Ulrick Petersen and Pat McTigue and Lieutenant W. F. Woods of the Northern station stopped the disturbance. The trouble started, according to the police, when the two men attempted to bait a Japanese passenger on the car and the car crew intervened. The police say both were intoxicated.

DELLA TO LEAVE ON 'DRY' WAVE

"When America goes dry I'm going to marry a Mexican."

So announced Della Grim, one of the police court "regulars," in Judge Samuel's court.

Della was in court again and Sergeant A. B. Smith opined that soon her court troubles would be over.

"We'll all be dry pretty quick, Della," he said, "and then I suppose we won't have to be arresting you any more."

"Sarge," she remarked, "I drink whisky because I like it. When this country goes dry I'm going to Mexico and marry a Mexican. I'll get mine—if I have to leave Oakland for it."

LABORER IS INJURED.
John T. McClary, a laborer, was knocked down last night by a street car at Fifty-seventh street and San Pablo avenue, sustaining minor injuries, which were treated at the emergency hospital, where he was taken by the Emeryville police. Mortimer A. W. Ray says that the man tried to cross ahead of the moving car.

OAKLAND LAD IS DECORATED FOR BRAVERY

The Croix de Guerre, the French Government's official recognition of a signal act of bravery, is worn by Sergeant John E. Sankey, who has just returned to Oakland after more than a year in the battle lines abroad.

Sergeant Sankey is a brother of Bess Sankey, pretty ingenue and a favorite among patrons of Oakland playhouses. Miss Sankey is now playing in Sacramento and Sergeant Sankey left for there today for a visit with her and his mother.

It was at the history-making drive of the Yanks at Chateau-Thierry last year, when the Prussian guards were compelled to run and the tide of battle was broken that Sergeant Sankey performed the act of bravery that won for him the French cross.

Sergeant Sankey saved the life of a French captain, captured a German machine gun nest with his revolver and then turned the gun on the Boches who were running away.

SAW CAPTAIN FALL.
Captain Nestor Duval is the man whose life he saved. When the fighting was at its heaviest and great exploding shells and cracking machine guns and rifles drowned out the cries of the wounded and the shrieks of the terrified Huns, Sankey saw the French captain fall before a German machine gun. He also spotted the machine gun.

With lightning rapidity he jerked the revolver from his belt, accounted for the three Germans who were manning the gun and took charge of it. As Sergeant Sankey was a machine gunner himself, he knew how to use it with deadly effect. For twenty minutes he kept up the deadliest of fire upon the running Germans and it was not until he had cut a pathway of death in their direction and its range was no longer effective that he slackened fire.

TO HOSPITAL.
He did so to turn his attention to Captain Duval, who was wounded. He took him on his shoulders and braved a hail of shrapnel shell and bullets to carry him safely to the American lines. In doing so he was wounded in the thigh. Nevertheless he attempted to return to the lines. In this attempt he fell from weakness.

Stretcher bearers found him and carried him to the emergency dressing stations nearby. Later he was sent to the base hospital near Chateau-Thierry. When he was sufficiently recovered to go about he was escorted to the drill field at a formal parade and in the presence of his battalion and several thousands of assembled troops was awarded the Croix de Guerre by a French general officer. At the same time the citation which recited his heroism was read.

He was drafted November 5, 1917, went to Camp Mills and two weeks later was sent overseas.

Ports

Oakland is the logical port for the shipment of Pacific Coast products to the East—through the Panama Canal.

The waters of the Pacific form a direct pathway to the richest undeveloped markets of the world—one-half of the population of the globe lives on the borders of the Pacific Ocean.

This is the most convenient port for shipment to the Orient. It is 24 days nearer than the great cities of the Atlantic Coast. The saving in operation costs on a 10,000-ton steamer of $36,000 a voyage—24 days gained on deliveries—will do much to increase the shipping of this port.

With its deep water frontage of 9½ miles, Oakland is destined to enter a new era of development in the field of Asiatic and South American commerce.
